Dan,

I think the agency will be supportive of authors publishing their work for us. I am not the expert though. This is more in Jeff's purview so I am sending your message to him and a few others who I think can get you an answer. Thanks

Subject: Publishing characterization/assessment work?

Hey again, Rick,

A while back Phil North and I were kicking around ideas for publishing some of this Bristol Bay work. Phil suggested looking into the possibility of getting a special issue of Environmental Management dedicated to manuscripts based on the characterization and assessment documents. I emailed the editor and she was supportive of the idea. If we want to move forward, she requested a formal proposal which would consist of a list of manuscripts including authors and an abstract for each.

I'd welcome the opportunity to get a publication or two out of this project and I expect that some others would concur. What are your thoughts on this? Do you think EPA would be supportive? If this makes sense, any thoughts on how to best coordinate?

Dan
